

Author's name :

Thesis title:

In order to protect the legal rights and interests of the author and the editorial board, the author of the article (Party A) and the editorial board of "Journal of Automotive Safety and Energy" (Party B) signed the following agreement on the publishing rights of the manuscript in accordance with the "Copyright Law of the People's Republic of China":

1. Party A transfers the following rights to Party B: ① The compilation right of the manuscript; ② The distribution, dissemination and reproduction rights of the paper version, the internet version, and other electronic versions of the manuscript.

The copyright transfer deadline: from the effective date of this contract to December 31 of the tenth year after Party B officially publishes the paper for the first time; the copyright transfer of the manuscript is applicable around the world.

Within the above-mentioned time period and region, ① Party A may compile the full text of the article into Party A's non-periodical collection; ② Party A may quote part of the manuscript in subsequent works. However, during the above use (including quotation), the journal title, year, volume, and issue number of "Journal of Automotive Safety and Energy" should be clearly marked.

2. Party A guarantees that: ① The manuscript is first published; ② The signed authors of the manuscript have made substantial contributions to the manuscript, the signature is correct and the order is not disputed; ③ All facts in the manuscript are true and accurate; ④ When citing others' work, make the necessary notes; ⑤ The manuscript does not violate the copyright agreement between Party A and other publishing organizations, and does not violate the confidentiality agreement between Party A and its partner organizations. ⑥ If Party A violates the above guarantee, any liability arising therefrom shall be borne by Party A.

3. Party B guarantees that within 60 days after this contract takes effect, Party A will be notified of its handling opinions. If Party A receives a notice of rejection of the manuscript, this contract will be automatically terminated; if the time limit expires, ① Party A can continue to wait for processing comments; ② Party A can withdraw the manuscript and notify the editorial office, this contract will be terminated.

4. Party B will not charge Party A for page fees, etc.; after the paper version of the manuscript is published, Party B will not pay Party A for the author's remuneration, and Party B will use the funds in the construction of the journal. When Party B republishes the paper in other forms, it will not pay Party A a separate remuneration.

5. This contract is in duplicate, with each party holding one copy. This contract will come into effect on the date both parties sign it.

6. Other matters not covered shall be handled in accordance with the "Copyright Law of the People's Republic of China" and relevant laws and regulations.

Signature of Party A (all authors or agents):

Party B (Editorial board of "Journal of Automobile Safety and Energy") Seal

Day/Month/Year

Day/Month/Year